LIGHTNING AND RAIN DO DAMAGE

One Adams County Barn Burned. Another Saved with Difficulty. Bad Wash-outs. Roads Flooded in Some Places. Other Storm Results

The heavy electrical storms which passed over sections of Adams County on Wednesday morning resulted in two fires and many washouts. Practically the entire county had a very heavy rainfall with some wind.

The barn on the farm of N. C. Deatrick, located in Tyrone township one and a half miles east of Aspers, was entirely burned, along with nearly all of the machinery, a wagon shed and all the crops. After the barn was struck by lightning, Mr. Deatrick with several others had time to get all the stock out in safety but the flames spread so rapidly that the machinery and grain were consumed with the burning structure. The building was partly covered by insurance.

A large straw stack close to the barn on the farm of Henry Albert, tenanted by his son, John Albert, located about a quarter of a mile from Hampton, was struck by lightning, and the straw burned for eight hours before it could be gotten under control. The fire was finally put out about four o'clock in the afternoon and the barn saved after it had been on fire a number of times, in various places.

In Littlestown there was heavy rain and a severe electrical storm but no damage. At New Oxford the rainfall was also heavy but there was no damage to amount to anything. In the other end of the county, in the neighborhood of Fairfield, the storm was not so heavy there being some rainfall but decidedly less than in other parts.

Many of the rural mail carriers found it necessary to make wide detours in covering their routes during and after the storm, for all the streams were high and in several places the roadway was so badly washed out as to make traffic well-nigh impossible.

The storms were severe in York County. At Porters several bridges were reported to be washed away. A wooden structure between Porters and Kraft's Mill was carried down the creek and private bridges leading to the creamery and the blacksmith shop at Porters, also were moved.

At Spring Grove a large amount of corn belonging to Clinton R. Moul and Joseph Smith was washed down Oil Creek. A roller, belonging to Clinton Moul, was carried more than a mile by the current.

Much damage was also sustained by J. E. Moul, merchant at Iron Ridge. His store property was entirely surrounded by water and he was marooned in the building. The cellar of the store was filled to the rafters with water. Twenty drowned chickens were taken from the chicken pen. Many others were washed away. The main track of the Northern Central Railway at Spring Grove was covered with more than two feet of water. The road bed of the railroad at Iron Ridge station was washed out from one to three feet deep for more than 200 feet.

CONVICT LABOR FOR LINCOLN WAY

First Stretch of Road from Coast to Coast will be Built by Colorado Convicts. Many Contributions are Received.

In compliance with his promise made at the meeting of governors in Colorado Springs a few weeks ago, Governor Ammons has decided to have part of the Lincoln Highway in Colorado built this year. The route which needs immediate improvement is that between Julesburg and Denver, passing through Sterling and Ft. Morgan. Convict labor will be employed under the direction of Thomas J. Tynan, warden of the Colorado State Penitentiary. Many of the best roads in that state have been built by convicts with great success.

Competition in the sale of contributors' certificates of the Lincoln Highway Association has already developed among the automobile organizations of the country.

In Indianapolis The Hoosier Motor Club has taken 400 of the $5 certificates and W. S. Gilbreath, secretary of the club, reports that most of them have been sold and turns in requisitions for more. The Hoosier Club, in fact, is advertising the certificates in the Indianapolis daily papers.

Another competitor is the Rochester Automobile Club of Rochester, N. Y. Secretary Van Tuyle and Director J. J. Mandary declare that with their 3000 members and the enthusiasm for the Highway already expressed, the sale of several thousand certificates is only a matter of a few weeks time.

The recent proclamation of the route, accompanied by an appeal to the patriotism of everyone signed by President Henry B. Joy, has also brought a flood of voluntary contributions from all sections of the United States and Canada. In every city along the Lincoln Highway enthusiastic supporters are making efforts to complete the $10,000,000 fund. A considerable amount, it is believed, will be reported on the night of Friday, October 31, when local celebrations are to be held along the route of the Highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

With each certificate the purchaser receives a numbered membership card in the Lincoln Highway Association and a beautifully etched metal emblem, suitably engraved, to be placed on the car of the contributor.

FOOT BALL TEAM IN BAD SLUMP

Players and Students Completely Disheartened by Last Saturday's Game. Special Efforts Made to Revive Interest.

So serious has the foot ball situation at college become during the past few days that it was necessary this morning at the weekly assembly meeting to make a special appeal to the students for assistance in getting the team out of its present slump.

Ever since the crushing defeat at Philadelphia on Saturday the first team has been utterly dispirited, the student body disheartened and other supporters well nigh disgusted. This condition was not made any better by the news of Franklin and Marshall's fine showing on Wednesday when they held Penn to a score of 13 to 6.

Since Saturday's game only one scrimmage has been possible, the scrubs refusing to turn out in sufficient numbers to allow the first team an opposing eleven. On Wednesday evening the practice was of the most ragged sort and coaches and spectators found little encouragement in the form displayed. Lack of head work seems to be one of the most glaring defects and Coach Mauthe, after each play, is forced to give a demonstration to show the "bone-head" work of some member of the squad.

Hoar sustained an injury to his arm in the Penn game which is likely to keep him out of play for several weeks and Buehler is out on account of parental objection. Several other players are laid up with minor injuries and the whole outfit is nearly demoralized.

At the assembly exercise this morning an appeal was made to get more men out for practice but the student body seems convinced that the material is not here to be developed and the most optimistic fail to see any hope of defeating the usual rivals later in the season. Albright plays here Saturday. They were beaten by Lehigh last week 64 to 0. Should Gettysburg fail to win this game it is difficult to prophesy what may happen among the gridiron adherents.

STATE RESTS IN SULZER TRIAL

Board of Impeachment Managers Close Direct Testimony.

BROKER TELLS OF ACCOUNT

Declares Colwell Told Him "500 Account" Was Sulzer's and He Was Acting For Him.

Judge Herrick, of counsel for Governor Sulzer, then requested that the court adjourn until Monday next. On motion of Senator Brown the court went into executive session to decide the question. After an executive session it was decided to hear all the preliminary motions of the defense today.

In asking for the recess Judge Herrick, of counsel for Sulzer, said the announcement that the managers rested their case "came as a surprise to the counsel for the respondent. There are a number of motions to be made," he said. "The opening statement is to be prepared, and there are numerous consultations which we must have with the respondent who, in our opinion, should be entitled to the benefit of his counsel."

Sulzer's stock operations were again a point of attack. Direct connection between "account 500" and the governor was established when J. B. Gray, of the stock exchange firm of Fuller & Gray, who handled the account, testified that Frederick L. Colwell told him the stock transactions in the account were for the governor. Colwell was Sulzer's alleged "dummy."

The transactions consisted of the purchase of 200 shares of "Big Four," which Gray said Colwell had paid for in cash. The first 100, he said, was bought for Colwell, Oct. 23, 1912, and delivered to him in Brooklyn, Oct. 31. The second 100 was bought Nov. 4, and it was not until the second purchase, according to Gray, that Colwell told him the transactions were for the account of the governor.

Gray said Colwell had requested the account be given a number, and that the stock be delivered to him in Brooklyn, because he did not wish it known that he was doing any business with Gray's firm. Colwell, who had acted in the capacity of private secretary to Gray, formerly was employed by the firm of Harris & Fuller. Colwell did not want Harris & Fuller to know, witness said, he was bringing any business to Fuller & Gray.

One bond which Colwell purchased from the firm was for a woman, the witness testified. Asked her name, Gray replied he could not remember it, although Colwell had revealed her identity when the bond was delivered.

Gray was a contributor, through Colwell, to the governor's campaign fund, he admitted. He said he could not recall whether he gave $50 or $100.

It was brought out that Colwell lives in one of the broker's houses in Yorkers. Gray was questioned regarding Colwell's whereabouts, but he insisted he had not seen or heard from Colwell since he disappeared several weeks ago.

Gray said that "account 500" was the only business that Colwell had ever brought in for his firm. "Mr. Colwell gave me to understand at the time the account was opened," he said, "that he didn't care to have anybody beside myself know about it."

"How did the account come to be designated account 500?" At the request of Colwell, he didn't want his transactions with the firm known because of his former connection with Harris & Fuller.

"How long ago was that connection?" "About five years."

Gray said he had dismissed Colwell from his employ as private secretary because he did not have enough work for him and "what he did was not satisfactory."

Another 100 shares of "Big Four" was purchased by Colwell on Nov. 4, said the witness.

"Did he tell you at that time that the account was for William Sulzer?" "He said it was William Sulzer."

Referring again to the witness' campaign contribution, Gray said that Colwell had told him that if he gave the contribution "it might mean some business." Questioned by Senator Griffin, the witness said Colwell had "rendered no return for desk room he had in the firm's office."

Colonel Henry C. Barthman, a New York jeweler, testified that his firm sent a check to Sulzer for $50. Judge Herrick showed, however, that this check was in the election expense statement filed by the governor.

There were persistent reports that an agreement had been reached between the executive and agents of Tammany Hall by which the governor had agreed to resign if the impeachment proceedings were allowed to drop. The report was pronounced absurd by Sulzer's counsel.

It now behooves all those with an income of more than $5,000 a year to try to find out how they are going to pay the income tax to the government and what will happen to them if they fail. The matter had been hanging fire for a long time. Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, who framed the income tax bill, has issued a statement intended to help taxable persons, and a bureau at the treasury department is at work upon a set of instructions, which will be issued later.

SPENDS $16,000 TO BE MAYOR

Scranton Millionaire Entered Race as a Joke.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 2.—E. B. Jermyn, millionaire coal operator, expended more than $16,000 to gain the nomination for mayor, according to his expense account, which was filed here. This is more by far than all the rest of the candidates combined.

Jermyn is said to have entered the race for mayor as a joke. He is reported to have made a remark in jest to a prominent politician that he thought he would make the race. "You would probably get your own vote and your brothers and a few more friends," was the politician's retort.

In a spirit of pique, Jermyn is said to have started out in earnest for the nomination. He lacked only a few votes of gaining a majority of those registered. Brooks spent a trifle more than $6,000, and O'Malley, the other nominee, spent a little more than $2,000.

THAW PROTESTS TO U. S.

Declares Deportation From Canada Was a Violation of Treaty.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Through Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania, Harry K. Thaw made a protest to the state department against his deportation from Canada on Sept. 10 by the immigration officials of the Dominion.

Thaw in a letter to Senator Oliver asks that the state department demand from the British embassy an explanation of the treatment accorded him by the Canadian officials. He contends that such treatment was in violation of the privileges guaranteed him as an American citizen in treaties between the United States and Great Britain.

In his letter, which Senator Oliver forwarded to the state department, Thaw reviews his flight into Canada, his arrest and the proceedings in connection with his case while in Canada and his summary ejection from the country.

BOY DIES OF INJURY

New York, Oct. 2.—Roy Kurst, aged sixteen years, of Lebanon, Pa., one of the three boys who worked their way to New York to go into the navy, died in the Brooklyn hospital.

Kurst, with Frank Crossley, aged fifteen years, and Herbert Werdt, fifteen years old, all of Lebanon, came to New York last week.

They failed to find the navy yard and Monday night went to sleep on a dock under the Manhattan bridge. Kurst fell into the water and was dragged out dying by two watchmen. When he fell he struck a piling and fractured his skull. The other boys are being held by the Children's society until their parents arrive.

Drowns Himself In Basin.

York, Pa., Oct. 2.—Michael Hiller, fifty years old, committed suicide by drowning in the York Water company's impounding basin. His coat was discovered floating on the surface, and an investigation revealed the body in the water in an upright position.

Chicken Bone Kills Man.

TO INSTRUCT BEEF RAISERS OF S. A.

SEEK TO LOWER PRICES

With Meat on Free List, Government Officials Seek to Insure Importation of Large Quantities.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The most far reaching attempt yet made to reduce the cost of living lies behind the trip of Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, accompanied by several assistants, to investigate conditions in South American packing houses.

It is frankly admitted by department officials that the visit of Dr. Melvin to South America is largely for the purpose of instructing the producers of beef cattle and the packing houses as to the standards required for the admission of meat products into this country.

E. C. Joss, of the bureau of animal industry, who is stationed at Portland, Ore., will proceed to Australia on the same errand.

In view of the speedy passage of the tariff bill, which puts meat and meat products on the free list, Secretary of Agriculture Houston wants to take every precaution to insure the importation of meat from South America and Australia in quantities sufficient to bring about a reduction of prices to the American consumer.

The shortage of beef cattle in this country is on the increase. With a constantly growing population the price of meat has become a serious problem to the poor people. While the beef cattle industry in this country is a diminishing one, cattle raising in Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay and Brazil is on the increase. This is especially true of Argentina and Uruguay. The packing house industry in Argentina also has reached considerable proportions, placing that country on the map as an exporter of beef.

American packers are largely interested in South America, having erected there some of the most modern and commodious establishments in the world. As an example of the seriousness of the situation in this country, Dr. Melvin said that within the last six years the number of beef cattle has decreased from 51,566,000 to 36,630,000, or thirty per cent.

"We no longer have the former abundant supply of beef cattle raised chiefly on the free range," said Dr. Melvin. "The range is being rapidly cut up and being fenced off into farms or diverted to sheep raising. In addition there is a great increase in the price of corn and feed. This combination of circumstances naturally has operated to reduce the number of cattle raised each year. The policy of the government in refusing to lease portions of the public domain in such a way that fences can be erected and water supplies developed does not justify cattle men in making plans for the future."

Dr. Melvin will be out of the country three months. He will visit Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay.

WIFE TALKS TO ENTOMBED MAN

Tells Her to Take Good Care of Family, That He Will Soon Be Home.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 2.—Thomas T. Besky, entombed in the Continental mine at Centuria since last Friday, a rescuing party working day and night ever since to liberate him, is still a prisoner, with small prospects of being liberated until Friday or Saturday.

He continues being fed milk and beef steaks conveyed to him through a two inch hole fifty feet long, a rope being attached to a tin bottle which the entombed man pulls to him whenever it is filled with nourishment.

His wife was led into the mine and held a brief conversation with him through the bored hole. He told her to take good care of herself and the children, and that he would be with them at home to eat the next Sunday dinner.

Rejected Aliens Leap From Ship; Lost

New York, Oct. 2.—Four men who were to have been deported on board the steamship La France obtained liberty or death by leaping forty-five feet from an upper deck to the Hudson as the vessel lay at her pier. All traces of the men was lost. The finding of two life belts in the river, however, led to the belief that they had perished. All had arrived recently as stowaways.

Five Perish In Fire.

New Haven, Ky., Oct. 2.—Five persons perished in flames that swept through the business section of New Haven. The victims were the wife, three children and sister of James Devers, who were trapped by the fire in Devers' hotel. The loss on several buildings destroyed amounted to about $50,000.

Senator Lodge Improving.

Nahant, Mass., Oct. 2.—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge passed a quiet night and the nurses said that he was resting comfortably. His pulse and temperature were normal.

SAVED LITTLE GIRL

The quick action of Glenn Linah, a 12-year old York Springs boy, probably saved Mildred Gechenour from being terribly burned when her dress caught fire. A number of the children from the town were searching for trinkets in the ruins of the stable and butcher shop of Mrs. Pearson when the little girl's dress was ignited by a spark from the smoldering debris. The child screamed and started to run but the boy caught her and beat out the flames with his hands and probably saved her life.

WORK PROGRESSING

Headway being Made at New Littlestown Factory.

Work is progressing rapidly at the Kump building, Littlestown, which is being put in readiness for Eisenlohr Bros., of Philadelphia, makers of the Cinco cigar. The elevator is being installed and work on the heating plant will be commenced this week. The office furniture and a large number of chairs arrived during the week and have been installed in the building.

MEMORY A MATTER OF HABIT

Forgetfulness Arises Largely From Special Kind of Laziness—Mental Training Needed.

Memory, according to psychologists, is a good deal a matter of habit, and lack of it arises largely from a special kind of laziness. We see the truth of this, remarks the Bellman, when we observe the prodigious memories of some of the men of letters a century ago, and then compare their education with the system of teaching which now prevails. When we wonder at their ability to quote offhand at almost any length, we must remember from their earliest days they were taught to memorize. They had to learn things by heart, and learn them exactly, with the result that in childhood they formed, perforce, the habit of remembering with absolute precision.

What we need nowadays is a sort of mental training analogous to this older schooling. Let us by all means keep our filing cases and memorandum pads, but let us at the same time keep our memories active by making them work. The simple process of committing poetry to memory, futile as it may seem to some, is one of the most useful kinds of intellectual exercise. And if we do not before long make general use of some such stimulus, it begins to look as though our memories would join our appendixes as now useless relics of an earlier stage of existence.

RIDDLES.

What does man love more than life,
Hate more than death or mortal strife;
What which contented men desire,
The poor have, and the rich require;
The miser spends, the spendthrift saves,
And all men carry to their graves?
Nothing.

A glazier.

When it is Browning.

What are the greatest obstacles to a Russian invasion of Turkey?
The balkin' (Balkan) mountains.

FAVOR POLICE DOGS

Results in Kaiser's Army Attacks Many Nations.

Bloodhounds Are Too Noisy—German Shepherd Canine Do Not Bay, Thereby Possessing an Additional Virtue for the Work.

New York—There appears to be a general awakening to the value of police dogs all over the world. Without a doubt the attention now being given to dogs as factors in the German army and the police departments of that country has made the other nations of Europe "sit up and take notice." The present enthusiasm among the members of the German Shepherd Dog club of America is simply a sign of what is about to happen in connection with police dogs in New York and other cities, where, unfortunately, crime is rampant and murder of every day occurrence.

It is true that several dogs have been kept in Brooklyn by the police, but they have been used only in a half hearted way. The dogs have had too many masters; they have been treated very much like the firemen's dogs; they have been looked upon more as pets than four legged policemen, ever alert and standing for no nonsense from any one.

In no country in the world has the bloodhound been used more for tracking criminals than in America. The old sleuth hound of remote days has been kept right up to his work, and as a consequence the American bloodhound is very much keener in his pursuit than the hounds of his own blood and breeding in Europe. The bloodhound here is often made savage, so that he shall become a keener hunter of men. It is a practice in some of the penitentiaries in the south to get inmates of the prison to kick palings of the kennels in which the bloodhounds are kept. The disturbed dogs thus are made savage, and when a man is reported missing or is seen getting away the bloodhounds hunt his trail with all the grimness of a terrier after a rat.

In Europe a bloodhound is not supposed to mouth or worry his human quarry. There is not so much sentiment in this part of the world, but as the bloodhounds generally are hunted on a leash they can be restrained from harming the runaway, who willingly surrenders when the animals are close upon him. Bloodhounds make a great deal of noise when they are running on a trail. They are more suitable for work in the open country than in a town or near to where there are living many persons, who will naturally rush out when they hear the baying and thus spoil the progress of the man hunt. German shepherd dogs are silent on the line, and for that simple reason they are preferred for work in a city or its suburbs. The wolflike dog is also the more active and he can clear palings and other obstacles with a great deal more ease than can the bloodhound.

It perhaps is not known generally that some of the railroad companies keep up a regular "staff" of hounds; they have been found of the utmost assistance in bringing desperadoes to justice. Manning Cleveland, a wealthy Poughkeepsie man, long has been renowned for the excellent work accomplished by his hounds. He is a deputy sheriff and is ever ready to assist the authorities anywhere. His hound, Moses has asserted in some wonderful runs and more than one miscreant has been sent to the electric chair through the scenting out powers of other Cleveland animals. The terror that a man is possessed of after he has been hunted by bloodhounds is well known.

Not so long ago the handler of the Cleveland dogs visited the prison where lay a condemned man—the murderer ran down by the aforesaid Moses and a black and tan American bloodhound, the latter half pure bloodhound and half American foxhound. "Do you know who this is?" asked the warden of the prisoner, as he pointed to the Poughkeepsie man. "No," came the reply. "He is the man with the dogs," continued the warden, and forthwith the unhappy wretch rushed to the corner of his cell and actually tried to dig himself out with his hands. The terror that a red handed criminal has for the powers of a dog is well known. The presence of well trained police dogs is a deterrent to crime.

SCHOOLS FACE EMPTY PURSE

Winslow, N. J.—The proposition to build a new school at Sicklerville was defeated by a vote of 124 to 34, and the board of education of Winslow township faces a serious predicament. The teachers have been engaged, but the board is without funds to begin the term.

The school building at Sicklerville was condemned a year ago by the inspector for the state board, which has now withheld the $10,000 annual appropriation to the local schools, until the voters authorize the new school. Unless something is done soon the schools may not be opened.

ROPE TRICK IS "EXPLAINED"

English Writer Makes Explanation of Cunning Artifice—Does Not Appear Conclusive.

The Indian rope trick, which no one who has seen it performed has ever satisfactorily explained, is "explained" by J. N. Maskelyne, an English writer.

Mr. Maskelyne dismisses the trick as follows: Indian conditions of atmosphere are necessary to the success of the trick. The spectators face the setting sun and are sheltered from it by an awning. The rope used is evidently a jointed bamboo with the joints made to lock. Up this "rope" or "pole" a boy climbs to a height of about 30 feet or so, till out of sight of the people. Then he "disappears" as though into space.

What really happens, Mr. Maskelyne explains, is that the spectators are blinded by the setting sun and that the boy climbs up the pole or rope and then drops quickly to the ground. Before the astonished onlookers know anything about it he is covered up with a sheet.

This is the most ingenious attempt at an explanation of the trick yet made, but it will not appear conclusive to all who have witnessed the performance. The trick has been witnessed at Khandalla—a hill station near Bombay—and again at Delhi at midday, without any awning being used or any effects but the rope.

EDUCATION NOT ALL MENTAL

The authorities at Columbia university have refused to award a diploma to a senior who has not learned to swim the length of the pool in the gymnasium. A few years ago such action would have been deemed absurd. There are those who are unable to swim the length of a gymnasium pool and a student's qualifications for a degree of bachelor of arts, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. They are the people who believe that the only benefit to be derived from attendance at college is obtained from books. The requirements imposed at Columbia is an indication of the more practical turn that is being given to educational effort in recent times.

While most boys learn to swim without the aid of college or even common school instruction, there are few things acquired in a university of more practical value. Every one not physically disqualified should be moderately proficient in the art of keeping afloat in the water. It is a simple thing, easily learned and should be part of the education of even grade school children. Columbia is setting a good example in withholding a diploma from a man who cannot swim.

WAISTCOATS RECEIVE UNUSUAL ATTENTION IN TAILORED SUITS

Severely tailored suits are practical by a thing of the past. The suit today is dressy enough for an afternoon tea and conventional enough for a shopping trip, but lines are easy; skirts are draped and washed; coats are belted and vested in charming, unusual ways. Two-toned suits are modish, plain coats with skirts of plaids or stripes. A model of Cherut's has a coat of plain blue duvetyne and a skirt of ribbed velours de laine in blue and green. Another imported suit of velours de laine has a coat of dark blue with a dark blue skirt striped in Nattier blue. Both were smart. Either of these combinations can be used with 7955-7710 most appropriately. The vest of softly colored silk duvetyne, matelasse or tapestry gives an effective touch of contrast.

There is scarcely a suit or blouse that does not show a vest or at least a suggestion of a vest. It is one of the details that makes for smartness this season.

7955 in size 36 may be copied with 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material; 7710 requires for size 24 3 3/4 yards of 36 inch material.

A long, loose coat most practical to slip on over a one-piece frock is shown in 7917. Ratine with cuffs and revers of a smooth contrasting material would be good for general wear, while in one of the new velours or corduroys, fur trimmed, it would be dressy enough for evening.

To copy in size 36 this design requires 5 yards of 42 inch material. Each pattern is 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. Address Pattern Department.

Most Farmers

Do not object to their neighbors and friends hunting on their land or to any others who have due regard for their property, but all farmers do object to the hunter who tramples down grain, tears down fences and does damage. The surest way to protect yourself is to placard your property. Cardboard trespass signs 5 cents each, 6 for 25c; muslin signs 10c each, 3 for 25c. And in order to keep undesirable hunters from coming out to your land and possibly disregard such signs, the best thing you could do would be to place your name in our trespass list. HALT TARIFF BILL ON ITS LAST LAP

FIGHT IT OUT IN CAUCUS

They Insisted Many Compromises Agreed to By Conference Committee Demanded Further Consideration.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The entire conference report on the tariff bill was laid aside until today in the senate as the result of a protest from Democratic senators which forced the calling of a party caucus to go over the report before it should be acted upon in the senate.

A hurriedly called caucus assembled. The so-called insurgent forces, led by Senator Reed, of Missouri, who circulated the petition for a caucus, insisted that there were many compromises and amendments agreed to by the conference committee which demanded further study and consideration before being finally written into the bill.

The caucus decided to abandon its position on the proposition in the bill to tax dealings in cotton futures and to leave the subject for future legislation. Both the amendment of Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, written into the bill in the senate, and the less drastic Administration substitute presented by House Leader Underwood and adopted by the house, will be thrown out by the senate Democrats.

After the caucus Senator Simmons said he was confident that the senate would complete its consideration of the tariff bill today. He said a motion would be made first to agree to the conference report, and that then he would move to disagree to the Underwood cotton tax amendment, and also to recede from the senate amendment.

The caucus battled loud and long over various provisions in the bill, arranged by the conference committee. Chief among these were the tax of $1.10 a gallon on grape brandy used to fortify sweet wines, against which Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, voiced strenuous protest; the differential between wire rope and wire in completed cables, which are fixed by the conference, aroused the opposition of Senators Reed, of Missouri, and Hughes, of New Jersey, and the arrangement of the paragraph including cast iron pipe, Senators Reed and Pomerene framed a resolution directing that the conference report be sent back to the conference committee with instructions to alter these provisions. But Senator Simmons, in charge of the bill, moved as a substitute that the conference report be accepted. His motion was carried by a vote of 33 to 6.

Only concurrence of the senate in the action by the house in adopting the conference committee's report and a definite agreement, or more likely, disagreement on the plan to tax trading in cotton futures, stands in the way of the approval of the Democratic measure of "revision downward" by President Wilson and his going into effect at once. Despite the obstacles confronting the bill it was expected that the measure would be signed and then made a law not later than Saturday night.

With the Republicans ready to resort to obstructive tactics, the most serious phase of the situation was the threatened bolt on the Democratic side. The senators who signed the petition for the caucus, each of whom had one or more grievances, were Reed, O'Gorman, Shafroth, Myers, Salisbury, Owen, Hollis, Hitchcock, Pomerene and Martine.

"We are simply insisting that the senate shall have sufficient time to study and familiarize itself with the conference report," said Reed. "Many things were put in and taken out of the bill by the conference committee and we demand the right to become very familiar with the scope of the bill. It is the same attitude that we take toward currency legislation."

MEXICAN REBELS OBEY U. S.

Evacuate Border Town Because of American Attitude.

Piedras Negras, Mex., Oct. 2.—Confronted by an implied ultimatum that United States soldiers would be used to prevent the destruction of the international bridge here, as well as American property on the Mexican side, every responsible chief of the Constitutional movement disappeared from Piedras Negras, leaving the town at the mercy of the federalists, should they make a filibustering attack from the American side of the river.

Several rioters were shot down in the street by Constitutional troops, who sternly suppressed a spirit of anarchy which showed itself.

Lightning Kills Farmer.

Salisbury, Md., Oct. 2.—One of the heaviest electrical storms this year visited this section of Maryland and much damage was done by lightning to wires, poles and other property in the path of the storm. Hubert Warren, a wealthy farmer, residing near the city limits on the Betts farm, was struck by an electric bolt and killed.

ENRAGED BOY KILLS SIX WITH AN AX

Murders Employer and Five Others When Rebuked.

Nantes, France, Oct. 2.—A crime of incredible savagery was committed by a boy fifteen years old, who murdered with an axe six persons in the village of Bashedre En-Grandre.

The boy, Marcel Redureau, was employed as a vine cutter. He and his employer, George Mabit, were pressing grapes together, when a discussion arose between them. Redureau became angry, seized an enormous axe and with a single blow slew Mabit.

The young murderer then entered the employer's house, holding his formidable weapon in his hand. He dashed up to Mrs. Mabit and struck her until she was dead, and then killed a servant in the same way.

The boy then proceeded to another room, where he dispatched his employer's mother, and then followed this by killing two of Mabit's children. He spared a third child, aged four, lying by their side.

After completing his series of crimes Redureau went to bed and slept calmly. After his arrest he made a complete confession.

ADMITS SHE KILLED CHILD

Woman Says She Tried Also to Wipe Out Family.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—In a second confession, according to Chief of Police Oscar Martinson, Mrs. Ida Leckwold admitted she had murdered one of her eight children, attempted to kill another and to take the life of her husband.

She said four other children had died within eight years from natural causes. The police assert that Mrs. Leckwold confessed to killing all of them. In her hysterical story she implicated a man who, she said, inspired her to "get rid of her entire family."

The woman now admits that she killed her nine-year-old daughter Viola on Sept. 8 and that she attempted to take the life of her twelve-year-old son Willie, who, with Ethel, eleven, are the only ones of the eight children who survive.

ABANDON COMMERCE COURT

Senate Committee Agrees to House Plan Despite Vigorous Opposition.

Washington, Oct. 2.—A struggle to save the commerce court from abolition ended when the senate appropriations committee agreed to the provision placed in the urgent deficiency bill by the house abolishing the court and distributing its jurisdiction to the various federal courts.

Supporters of the court made a vigorous fight to prevent the adoption of the house provision by the committee, but were defeated.

JAPAN INSISTENT ABOUT LAND LAWS

Demands Same Rights in the U. S. as Other Aliens.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Surprise was expressed at the state department at the report from Tokio that another note bearing upon the California anti-alien land legislation had been dispatched to Washington.

The last Japanese note, presented more than a fortnight ago, remains unanswered, and it has been assumed that negotiations temporarily would be in abeyance until the return of Counselor John Bassett Moore, who has been in direct charge of the correspondence in the latest phases. Mr. Moore has been on a month's vacation.

By mutual agreement the principals have sought to maintain the strictest secrecy concerning the various steps in the negotiations. It is reported, however, that the Japanese government has reached the conclusion that it cannot meet the contention of the state department that the California land law is not in conflict with the existing treaty and has decided to seek a new convention.

Unofficial information from Japan indicates that Japan, instead of seeking to substitute for the Knox treaty of 1911, a new convention of general scope, is inclined to ask for an agreement that will, in conventional terms, recognize the right of Japanese land ownership in any state of the United States on even terms with the citizens of other nations.

KATE EDWARDS ASKS PARDON

Reading Woman, Under Death Sentence, Again Seeks Freedom.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 2.—Application was filed with the state board of pardons for a pardon for Mrs. Kate Edwards, the Reading murderess.

Mrs. Edwards was sentenced to death in 1901, and was refused a pardon in 1903. The case will be presented Oct. 15.

Mrs. Edwards was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of her husband, and that sentence still stands. Although she has been refused a pardon and her sentence has never been commuted, she has remained a prisoner in the Berks county jail because no governor holding office since she was convicted would sign her death warrant.

STEEL TRUST RESUMES FIGHT

New York, Oct. 2.—The United States Steel corporation marshalled its experts to refute the government's charge that the corporation should be dissolved as an illegal monopoly.

The corporation maintains not only that it is not a monopoly, but that a monopoly of the steel and iron trade is an impossibility.

Professor C. L. Leith, of the University of Wisconsin, qualified as an iron expert by reciting his connection with the United States geological survey and the tax commission of Wisconsin and Michigan in that capacity.

UNCLE SAM'S MONEY FACTORY IS WONDERFUL

Latest Stamp-Making Machine.

Standing on a site that alone would make it one of the world's superb factories, even if it did not quite equal the criterion in other respects, the new bureau of engraving and printing building is a structure so carefully planned to meet the exigencies of the future and facilitate the work and comfort of its employees, that it may be regarded as the last word in factory construction.

Potomac park, lying in beauty and grandeur with the Riverside driveway along the Hudson in New York, the Michigan boulevard bordering on Lake Michigan in Chicago, and the Champs de Mars and the Longchamps along the Seine in Paris, is the proud possession of this colossal plant, where for years to come the currency of Uncle Sam will issue.

For miles in Virginia its chalky walls are visible. As far down the Potomac as Alexandria it appears to rival the Washington monument.

The most striking feature of the new building is the extraordinary precautions taken for the comfort of its employees. Most notable, probably, is the promenade on the roof garden. The roof garden, it has been stated, will be the finest in the national capital, not only for the commanding view of many miles into the territory of the Old Dominion state that it will command, but also because of the refreshing breezes that will find their way from the river.

Lunch periods are expected to find the roof garden the mecca of all employees. Tables and benches and chairs will be found in abundance beneath a canopy so constructed that Old Sol will have little or no effect on the temperature. Ferns and palms will provide decorations. Elevators will run directly to the garden. It is expected that a view equal to that gained from the summit of the monument will be obtained from this point of vantage.

In order that first aid promptly may be administered to employees, who, as is often the case because of the high temperature caused by gas flame used to heat the plates, are prostrated by heat, a special emergency hospital will be provided. It will contain separate wards for men and women, and will have all implements of surgery necessary for any first-class institution of its nature. An experienced physician will be in constant attendance. The hospital is only intended for first aid, the employees being later removed if it is found necessary.

The building will contain a special refrigerating system, which will produce water for drinking purposes. The water will be cooled at a central point, so that when it is imbibed at bubbling fountains, it will be at an average temperature of 45 degrees.

These fountains will be so located that employees will have to go a minimum distance to obtain the water. A plan to have all the water distilled was abandoned when the public health commission decided that the liquid in this form was unhealthful.

A plentitude of light and a constant supply of fresh air continually will aid the employees in their work. The ventilation system will be entirely independent of the heating system. The air in the different rooms and offices will be changed two or three times a day. This will ventilate the rooms on a basis of about 2,000 cubic feet per hour per employee in the most crowded portions.

The large rooms literally will be swarmed with daylight. Glass windows form by far a greater part of the walls than the masonry. Throughout the building are no less than 22,700 panes of glass. The majority of these windows reach from floor to ceiling. It is expected that artificial light will be reduced to a minimum, and the amount of natural light will be increased to a maximum.

Another laudable feature of the new bureau will be a luncheon for each division. In addition, co-operative lunchrooms for men and women are being arranged, each leading out on to a shaded promenade on the roofs of two of the wings, in order that the employees may get light and fresh air during the lunch hour and still be kept within bounds.

Officials of the treasury department in regard to the co-operative lunchroom plan figure that in a factory such as the bureau, the health and happiness of the employees is just as essential as that machinery should be oiled or kept in good repair. They say that a man who is well fed is in better condition to render good service than one who is poorly fed and perhaps in need of nourishment. Therefore, the co-operative lunchroom.

According to present plans, a company to furnish the necessary fixtures, kitchen utensils, heat, light and fuel will be organized among the employees. The company in the form of a co-operative society will assess each member a nominal sum as a membership fee to create a fund necessary to commence business, issuing a certificate for the same.

The society will elect officers and a board of governors to conduct the business, the board to select competent help to purchase the necessary food, cook and serve it to the employees at cost—that is, at such a figure as to maintain the service on a good business basis.

Each division will be complete in itself. Besides the individual lunchrooms, each section will have its own locker room, where the employees will be confined to the division during the entire working day. Owing to the nature of the output, treasury officials maintain that it is absolutely necessary that the employees shall be restricted to certain portions of the building from the time they enter in the morning until the time they leave in the evening, when all the securities upon which work is being performed are returned to their proper places for safekeeping.

In every respect the structure will be absolutely fireproof. Beams and columns are of steel, the arches and girders of ferro-concrete construction, the roof of metal, and the window sashes and frames of iron. Walls are brick, faced with Bedford limestone. Concrete is to be used in some parts of the building as flooring, but wood floors will predominate. The stairways are specially designed to serve as fire escapes. Those running from each floor are mostly independent of each other, thus tending to greater safety in case of stamped or panic.

"TOY LADY" IS MOURNED

Hundreds of children with tear-wet eyes are mourning the passing of "Miss Kate," the toy lady, whose funeral the other day drew them to St. Mary's church. Miss Kate France was proprietor of a store known as the "Lincoln Toyshop," because during the Civil war "Ted" Lincoln made all his purchases there and, often-times accompanied by his father, visited the place to feast his eyes on the treasures it contained. Miss France was sixty-three years old and had "grown up" with the shop.
